

Selling your home?

Have our experts present your property to its best potential and get top dollar!

Have you ever wondered why some homes sell more easily than others, or what would make your home more appealing to buyers than another. According to Jodi Thomson, of Designer Staging Solutions, and Barbara Lambert, of Staging Space, it is all about (not surprisingly) staging.

We all know about the freshly brewed coffee and fresh baked bread in the kitchen during Open for Inspections, but Jodi and Barbara have taken staging to new heights, specialising in preparing homes to create maximum appeal to buyers – whether you are a developer, a vendor or a real estate agent.

Staging Space and Designer Staging Solutions provides vendors and agents with a versatile range of furniture from the more traditional styles to modern contemporary, casual coastal, modern dark timber and designer looks.

"The advantage of a staged property is that it will sell quicker than the average time on market and in most cases for a higher price," Barbara Lambert says.

"We understand how to achieve the look that creates the missing link between the buyer and the property and we take care of everything including delivery, styling and pick up."

Jodi Thomson says their services enhance the photography and presentation of a property and ensure you are doing everything you can to achieve the best result.

"We service clients on the South Coast, in the Illawarra, Sutherland Shire and the Southern Highlands," Jodi says. "Each package comes complete, including accessories and linen, selected to suit the property's décor and style."
